

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (St. Matthew 11:28)

The word “come” is an invitational word. It always makes one feel special when they receive an invitation to “come” to a special event such as a wedding, graduation or even a special party. You realize that not everyone has been invited. You realize that you have been chosen. Or even if you are the one inviting, you must sit down and decide from a list of many friends and family, who you will allow to “come.” Because of limited funds, or perhaps limited space, everyone cannot be invited.

It’s wonderful to know that when Jesus made this invitation, he was able to invite everyone to “come.” He didn’t have to make a list and invite a limited amount of people, but he said, “Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.”

What an honor to know that we all have been invited to “come” by Jesus Christ, the one who loves us unconditionally and can do all things to partake in his wonderful salvation. Will you accept this great invitation to come??? If so, please R.S.V.P. as soon as possible.
