

TOPIC: Too blessed to Complain
SUBJECT: Just be Thankful and Praise Him

Psalms (107:1-8) (15-16) (21-22) (31-32)

Psalm 107 is considered as the 5th book or the 5th division of Psalms. It is related to the book of Deuteronomy which is part of the first five books of the Old Testament, known as the Pentateuch.

This Psalms concerns God and his word, showing all blessings of man.

This Psalms covers six classes of people: The redeemed, the rebels, the fools, the sailors, the rich and the poor.

Psalms 107 is a song that seeks to rectify unthankful and ungrateful thinking. David in this Psalms is making a plea to those whose hearts have grown cold with ingratitude, and ungratefulness.

We should always give thanks unto the Lord, for he is always good.

Even in our worst times, we have much to be thankful for.

Many times when things don't go our way, we find ourselves lamenting and complaining. Rather than crying and complaining, we should focus on the wonderful things he has already done.

When I think of the goodness of Jesus and all he has done for me, my soul cries out hallelujah, thank God for saving me.

One song writer wrote and said: Count your blessings, name them one by one, Count your blessings, and see what God has done.

We don't need more to be thankful for, we just need to be more thankful

If God doesn't do anything else for us in our life, he has done enough.

We do more complaining than praising the Lord, and being thankful.

If you take a closer look at your life, you will realize that your good in life outweighs the bad. Believe it or not, you are too blessed to complain.

Psalms (34: 1-3) David wrote: I will bless the Lord at all times; his praise shall continually be in my mouth.

My soul shall make her boast in the Lord, the humble shall hear thereof and be glad.

O Magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together.

Make up in your mind that you won't complain as much as you use to, but you will be thankful and grateful, and will bless the Lord.

When you complain all the time, you are always expressing displeasure.

You will always find fault, even if it's not there.

You will always make accusations.

A complainer is always declaring that something is annoying and labels just about everything and anything a nuisance.

You just need to stop, and take some time out and praise the Lord.

Praise him for the problems he has brought you through, praise him for the blessings he has given unto you.

In Psalms 107, the psalmist cited examples of the Lord's deliverances of his people. In each case the people pleaded for the Lord to help them out of their distresses, and he did.

When Israel crossed the Red Sea, Miriam took a tambourine and began to praise the Lord and bless his name.

When the lame man received his healing after Peter and John released the power of God upon him, he went into the temple with them leaping and praising God.

In Matthew Chapter 9, Jesus healed two blind men. Jesus told them not to tell anyone but they could not hold their peace. They were rejoicing and went about telling everyone in that country.

David praised the Lord and danced out of his clothes when the Ark of the Covenant was returned to its rightful place.

Let's stop complaining and give God all the praise that he is so worthy of.
